

Jane Farley, FPMINZ, PMP®

Director

Jane Farley, from Auckland, New Zealand, has been a volunteer leader since joining Project Management Institute (PMI) in 1996. During the two terms where she served as president of the PMI New Zealand Chapter, Ms. Farley implemented strategic governance at the chapter board level and devolved the operations to the branches. In 2003, Ms. Farley was awarded “Fellow of PMI New Zealand” (FPMINZ) for her volunteering and her significant contributions to the chapter.

Ms. Farley served two years on the Component Services Member Advisory Group and the Community Development Member Advisory Group. She also provided leadership on the Community Transformation Project.

Ms. Farley is a proven leader with more than 26 years experience in strategy, business operations and project management, primarily in Australia and New Zealand. Her diverse background includes experience in central and local government sectors, information services, information technology, financial services, utilities and telecommunication industries.

As a portfolio manager for Auckland City Council, Ms. Farley is responsible for the city center’s “Auckland’s CBD into the Future” strategy and waterfront redevelopments. Ms. Farley has oversight of the NZ$801 million capital works and other projects related to this effort. Previously, she was highly active in IBM’s project management community for nine years, where her roles included NZ profession leader, quality assurance manager, and working as a member of the A/NZ certification review board. Ms. Farley’s numerous professional recognitions include IBM’s prestigious, global “2005 PM Excellence Award” for her program management expertise.

Ms. Farley provided leadership to the New Zealand Library Association’s strategic plan in 1992. She was a director on the YWCA Lower Hutt Board of Directors (1980-1983), and served on the Australasian IT-19 Standards Committee (1993-1995). Ms. Farley is a member of the Institute of Directors in New Zealand (MInstD).

Ms. Farley is a published author and delivers numerous presentations on a variety of topics.

Ms. Farley gained her Master of Science (Zoology) and postgraduate Diploma of Librarianship from Victoria University of Wellington (Wellington, New Zealand). She obtained her Project Management Professional (PMP)® in 1998, and graduated from the PMI Leadership Institute Masters Class in 2005.
