The Fine Print

Augmenting your ATP course content

PMI-developed licensed course content must be delivered in full. You can teach the content in your own style and supplement the experience with your own case studies, examples, and activities.

Program Restrictions

PMI Authorized Training Partners may not offer their own on-demand or instructor-led exam prep courses, books, or alternative training products for PMI certifications that have an ATP instructor-led training course available. Exception: This restriction does not apply to CAPM® or PMI-CPMAI™. Partners may offer self-developed training for PMI certifications that do not currently have an ATP instructor-led training course available.

PDU Training and Non-ATP PMI Certification Courses

ATP partners in eligible tiers can deliver pre-approved PDU training. For PDU-only training, you do not need to use PMI-provided course content or complete Train the Trainer (TTT) for the course. The same applies to PMI certification courses that do not currently have an ATP instructor-led training course available: you are not required to use PMI-provided course content or complete TTT for those courses.

PDU training

Professional and Premier partners can offer pre-approved PDUs for certification maintenance on courses, content, and events aligned to the PMI Talent Triangle.

Reseller opportunities

Professional and Premier partners can resell PMI exams, membership, and eLearning courses alongside their own training, opening additional revenue streams and supporting a more complete learner experience.

In the spotlight: ATP visibility and marketing

All ATPs get an official badge to demonstrate their affiliation, and can list courses on PMI.org. Foundational, Professional and Premier partners get access to additional promotional resources in the ATP Marketing Portal, an exclusive, frequently updated library of campaign kits, product marketing toolkits, social, email, and one-pager assets, and badge artwork.

Choose an ATP Program Tier

Four tiers, one question: which one is right for my organization? The answer depends on how much training you will deliver and the level of support you need.

- Access and Foundational tiers: best for new or smaller providers testing the market (capped at 5 and 15 total course kit purchases per year).
- Professional tier: best for established providers ready to scale.
- Premier tier: best for mature partners who want a dedicated account manager and access to premium support and benefits.

You can upgrade tiers at a prorated rate anytime as your business grows.
